ELSEVIER

aquacultural engineering

Aquacultural Engineering 28 (2003) 205–206

www.elsevier.com/locate/aqua-online

Contents of volume 28

June 2003 (Volume 28, Numbers 1 and 2)

2001 Aquacultural Engineering Society Issues Forum, November 11–14, 2001, in Shepherdsown, West Virginia, USA
B.J. Watten (Kearneysville, WV, USA) and S.T. Summerfelt (Shepherdstown, WV, USA) 1

Evaluation of biosecurity applications for intensive shrimp farming
A.M. Schuur (Fort Pierce, FL, USA) 3

Ozonation and UV irradiation—an introduction and examples of current applications
S.T. Summerfelt (Shepherdstown, WV, USA) 21

Conceptual design of a microalgae-based recirculating oyster and shrimp system
J.-K. Wang (Honolulu, HI, USA) 37

Defining loading limits of static ponds for catfish aquaculture
J.A. Hargreaves (Mississippi State, MS, USA) and C.S. Tucker (Stoneville, MS, USA) 47

Intensification of pond aquaculture and high rate photosynthetic systems
D.E. Brune, G. Schwartz, A.G. Eversole, J.A. Collier and T.E. Schwedler (Clemson, SC, USA) 65

AES Application Form 87

Guide for Authors 91

August 2003 (Volume 28, Numbers 3 and 4)

Micro-particles in recirculating aquaculture systems: particle size analysis of culture water from a commercial Atlantic salmon site
R.N. Patterson and K.C. Watts (Halifax, Canada) 99

Micro-particles in recirculating aquaculture systems: microscopic examination of particles
R.N. Patterson and K.C. Watts (Halifax, Canada) 115

Ex-situ bioremediation of shrimp culture effluent using constructed microbial mats
J. Paniagua-Michel and O. Garcia (Ensenada, Mexico) 131

Electric stunning: a humane slaughter method for trout
J.A. Lines (Wrest Park Silsoe, UK), D.H. Robb (Dirdal, Norway), S.C. Kestin (Bristol, UK), S.C. Crook (Wrest Park Silsoe, UK) and T. Benson (Wheathampstead, UK) 141

Evaluation of full-scale carbon dioxide stripping columns in a coldwater recirculating system
S.T. Summerfelt, J. Davidson and T. Waldrop (Shepherdstown, WV, USA) . . 155

Farm-level costs of settling basins for treatment of effluents from levee-style catfish ponds
C.R. Engle and D. Valderrama (Pine Bluff, AR, USA) 171

AES Application form 201
Contents of volume 28 205